COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

The Orthodontics-Growth and Development course is a comprehensive 2 year seminar (4 semesters); approximately 10 sessions per semester. Each session will be 50 minutes long; it will include lectures by faculty, guest speakers, resident presentations and literature reviews.

The Orthodontics-Growth and Development didactic course has been developed to expand the concepts of case evaluation, records and diagnosis from the Summer Blitz Seminar and is complemented by the clinical application of the concepts in pediatric patients at the UTHSCSA residency program clinics.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

- Thorough understanding of craniofacial Growth and Development parameters, from the embryology to early adolescence, including variations in growth associated disturbances.
- Understanding the etiology, including genetic factors, associated with craniofacial anomalies.
- Evaluation and diagnosis of patient's dentofacial complex and occlusion.
- Knowledge of the development of dental occlusion, dental eruption and dentition formation.
- Early recognition and treatment planning of malocclusions, including ectopic eruption patterns, tooth rotations and supernumerary teeth presence.
- Diagnose and treatment plan simple arch length/tooth size discrepancies, open bites and crossbites.
- Understanding of special treatment considerations for children exhibiting craniofacial anomalies.
- Knowledge of the principles of treatment planning, orthodontic biomechanics other functional interactions and retention of orthodontic patients.
- Be competent in treating or referring patients with skeletal or dental malocclusions.
