COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

Research in Molecular Medicine, (MMED 6097), Fall Semester

Students will receive comprehensive training in relevant areas of their choosing. Students are expected to become an excellent scientist with both strong technical skills and scholastic ability.

Pre-requisites – Upon completion of Ethics in Research, Core Courses, and required 3 lab rotations. Student will register Research Course each semester until ready to complete Dissertation Course

Semester credit hours – 1-12 credit hours

By the end of this course, each student should be able to:

- Develop original hypothesis and analyze literature.
- Design and perform scientific experiments efficiently.
- Analyze and follow up the experimental results.

COURSE ORGANIZATION

The main teaching modalities used in this course include:

- 1) Train students to develop original hypothesis and analyze literature.
- 2) Train students to design and perform scientific experiments efficiently.
- 3) Train students to analyze and follow up the experimental results.
- 4) Train students to effectively present the data in oral and written formats.
- 5) Train students to have broader knowledge and critical vision in science.

Materials – Daily log journal, maintained by Student, to remain in Mentor lab. Equipment and reagents required for the projects would be provided by the supervising faculty.

Computer Access – Students can bring their computer or will have access to a laptop computer in the lab that can connect to and operate over a wireless network.

Software required:

- Microsoft Office Suite (A personal copy of the latest version can be purchased at The UTHSCSA bookstore at student pricing with a student ID)

Laptops with an Apple based Operating System must be able to also operate using a Windows based Operating System. It may be necessary to purchase Windows (student pricing available at The UTHSCSA bookstore with a student ID) and virtualization software.

All laptops will connect to The UTHSCSA network via the HSC wave broadcast wireless connection. Authentication for wireless use is based on The UTHSCSA domain username and password.

Verification of proper operation prior to the start of class is highly recommended.

Assistance is available thru the IMS Service Desk

- Telephone:(567-7777
- E-mail (ims-servicedesk@uthscsa.edu)

Assistance is also available at the IMS Student Support Center (ALTC 106).

Reading Assignments – Mentoring professor will assign the Student the Reading Assignments.

ATTENDANCE

Research training process goes on daily throughout the course of the study, although specific time is flexible and depends on the schedule of the students and supervising professors

TEXTBOOKS

There are no required textbooks for this course.

GRADING POLICIES AND EXAMINATION PROCEDURES
